From the moment you arrive at St. Louis Cosmetic Surgery, you will recognize the commitment to excellence in both clinical care and individualized patient service. Our physicians are dedicated to providing state-of-the-art techniques in the cosmetic surgery procedures you desire, as well as giving patients the personalized care that makes a cosmetic procedure a rewarding and satisfying experience. "Our 'total patient care' philosophy is reflected in the quality of our specialized services, the sincere dedication of our staff and the comfort of our pleasant surroundings," states Dr. Bruce White, who founded St. Louis Cosmetic Surgery in 1973.

In order to increase space and capabilities, St. Louis Cosmetic Surgery recently relocated to Chesterfield. The new office, with its beautiful waterfall and bamboo flooring, has been designed to ensure a calming and relaxing experience as well as professional care. Dr. Huffaker states, "We also added a 3,000-square-foot medical spa to help prepare patients for surgery and help them heal quicker after surgery." And, with treatments such as medical microdermabrasion, facials, body wraps, Invisilift, IPL Fotofacial, Thermage, massages using ultrasound and warm stones, laser hair removal and even waxing, "the spa is also great for those who aren't ready for surgery but would like to see real skin improvements," notes Dr. Lund.

In addition to performing surgery and treating patients in the office and the medical spa, these board-certified plastic surgeons also host their own radio show every Sunday at 11:00 a.m. on 97.1FM TALK, called All About You. "Our show helps keep people informed about everything in cosmetic surgery, even what doesn't work," says Dr. White.
